

ANTI-AGING TREATMENTS

Dear Valued Client

I believe that the best way to be able to promote a product or treatment is to try it out yourself! So, with some extra time on my hands during lockdown, I decided to be my own guinea pig and try out some of my "age defying" treatments.

All the pictures that you will see are unedited – no make-up or Photoshop – just me, Anna Gladys in my 46-year-old glory! Not the most flattering pictures, but hey – who cares!

The idea of doing it this way is to really explain my true feelings and results. So here goes!

TREATMENT: MICRONEEDLING WITH PEELS

"In my career I have experienced many combined treatments and in my opinion, this is one of the best ways to visibly improve skin. It is not always the most luxurious treatment to experience – but it is worth the discomfort and the results afterwards! I always apply a numbing cream just before the treatment to make it a little less painful."

So why MD:Tranex Retripeel?

This peel is highly effective in the removal of hyperpigmentation, clearing of acne-prone skin and erasing wrinkles and treating ageing skin that has a naturally low cell turnover cycle. The process of peeling is basically the application of a chemical solution to the skin so that it causes to exfoliate and eventually peel off to leave you with refreshed looking skin!

Day 2 Results

Most flakiness is on the forehead and around the mouth. Slight tenderness around my nose and eyes. I would at this stage LOVE to rub the flakiness off, but I know that this is not recommended. The skin must come off on its own sweet time!

This is not the most flattering of pictures but a true result. I have always pushed my skin to the limit and therefore have experienced results to the full extent. Thus, giving me the opportunity to explain the true results and to be honest and true to my clients. Keeping in mind my skin barrier function and product use have always been good and professional. Never causing harm or damage to my skin in a controlled environment. Which allows me to push my skin without causing damage to the point of no return.

In summary:

- Skin feels red and warm
- tight and slightly sunburned
- flaky all over

Day 4-6 Results

Some people may have faster results on Day 4 and others only on Day 6. Skin has lost its flakiness and looks positively glowing!

Depending on the setting of the needle's depth and the strength of the peel (8% or 15%), discomfort quickly disappears leaving you with:

- Glowing skin
- Skin that is soft and smooth
- Softer lines and hydrated skin
- Softening of deeper wrinkles after a course of 5 treatments
- More toned skin with less blemishes

I can't wait to see you in my salon for a peel & microneedling once lockdown is over!
